THE MARK

A hand-lettered signature with a heart integrated into the letterforms. Raw, personal, irreproducible. Three official variants. Always use the original artwork files — never attempt to recreate it digitally.

PRIMARY

ON WHITE / LIGHT

REVERSED

ON BLACK

EDITORIAL

ON DARK

USAGE RULES

✓ DO

Use the original artwork files only. The mark works at any scale as long as the file is used as-is.

✓ DO

Maintain clear space equal to the width of the "K" on all four sides.

✓ DO

The heart is inseparable from the letterforms. Keep it intact in every use.

✕ DON'T

Never stretch, skew, rotate, or attempt to recreate the mark digitally. The hand-lettered quality is the point.

✕ DON'T

Never place the mark on mid-tone, patterned, or busy backgrounds. High contrast only.

✕ DON'T

Never recolor the mark. Always black on light, white/light on dark. Never accent colors.

THE PALETTE

Pulled from the existing sites. Black, grain, and gold — the palette of a filmmaker's edit suite, a sketchbook at midnight, a cult movie poster. Everything lives on near-black.

HOW KIT SPEAKS

The voice is the work. Deadpan without being cold. Serious about the Art, not about himself. Fake celebrity endorsements deployed with complete conviction. The Oxford comma always in place. Never explains the joke.

SERIOUS

ABOUT THE WORK, NOT HIMSELF

- The Art, the books, and the movies are treated with genuine craft and complete earnestness
- Never self-deprecating about quality — only about the premise
- Credentials stated plainly: Gold Medal. Art Director. Cult movie. No hedging.

COMMITTED TO THE BIT, ALWAYS

- The joke is never announced — it's in the structure, the fine print, the asterisk
- Fake quotes from dead celebrities delivered without winking at the camera
- "Nothing is real" is both a punchline and a genuine artistic statement. Both are true.

DIRECT

SHORT SENTENCES. NO FILLER.

- Statements, not explanations. Declarations, not pitches.
- The bio doesn't say "aspiring" or "passionate about." It says what he did and when.
- Comfortable with fragments. Comfortable with silence.

PLURAL

MANY THINGS AT ONCE, UNAPOLOGETICALLY

- Does not choose between novelist, moviemaker, visual Artist, skateboarder, Porsche driver
- The plurality is the brand — "private media kitchen" holds it all
- No hierarchy between disciplines. A novella and a Porsche road video get equal billing.

HOUSE STYLE

ART / ARTIST	Always capitalized. Art, Artist, Artwork. Signals that Kit treats making as a serious discipline, not a hobby.
MOVIES VS. FILM	Never "film." Movies (features), videos (YouTube/short-form), motion pictures (formal). "Film" is not Kit's word.
OXFORD COMMA	Always. "Author, Artist, and Amateur Stuntman" — that comma before "and" is load-bearing. Never omit it.
FULL NAME	Always "Kit Anderson" in full in formal contexts. Never "Kit" alone, never "K. Anderson," never "Anderson" alone.
SENTENCE CASE	Running copy is always sentence case — first word and proper nouns only. Not title case.
PRONOUNS	He/him. Always. Not she, not they.
NOTHING IS REAL.	The period is part of it. Always with the full stop. The punctuation is intentional.
TRUCKEE, CALIFORNIA	Not "near Lake Tahoe." Not "the Sierra Nevada." Truckee, California. Always specific.

WIN THE WIKIPEDIA PAGE

Current holding line: "Kit Anderson does not have a Wikipedia page. This is better." That's the interim position. The real goal is to make it no longer true. The six-site network is the SEO infrastructure that gets him there.

0

WIKIPEDIA PAGES CURRENTLY HELD

Wikipedia requires notability — coverage in reliable, independent, secondary sources. Every site is a SEO node. Every node is a link. Every link is a signal.

What the network is building toward:

01 Owning the SERP. When you search "Kit Anderson," every result on page one should be Kit Anderson. Six domains make this possible.

02 IMDb as an anchor. Kit already has an IMDb page (nm3556873). Movie credits are among the strongest notability signals Wikipedia accepts.

03 Published books via Ingram. Multiple titles in wide distribution. Each one is a citable, verifiable fact.

04 Awards and credits. Gold Medal, Park City Film Music Festival. Art Director, inaugural Napa Valley Film Festival. Art Director, Million Family March.

05 Press coverage — the missing piece. The Mayor campaign and Jerk Calhoun are designed to be press-friendly — absurdist, self-contained, quotable. That's how you get the articles that make the Wikipedia page possible.
